Introduction

I am the Chronicler; my duty is to record deeds both good and evil in this world and others. Before this tale begins I will set the scene, for this is the way of all good storytellers.

The world of Jarrah is best envisaged as a 'wheel' with tranquil Haven as its hub and the other isles radiating around it, some linked by grand bridges. In this great land, darkness manifests itself in the form of an evil sorcerer named Silver. From his palace on the blood-isle of Metaion he rules with an unmatched zeal for ruthlessness and depravity over the Eight Islands. His lust for power, unsatisfied by a whole world to toy with, drives him to the most terrible of demonic pacts.

To Silver's right hand stands his murderous son, Fuge. It is through this fearsome warrior that Silver's will is carried out. The people of the isles fear the mere mention of his name. To his left stands Glass, his witch-daughter. Her terrible spells have twisted her realm into the icy domain of Winter.

Far from Silver's court, beyond the great library of Gno, stands the expansive forest of Verdante. It is a peaceful place, largely untouched by its evil ruler. Here lives a young man, David, with his wife Jennifer. David was raised by his grandfather, a battle scarred veteran both wise and honorable. The old man shows great patience with David's youthful attitude, but since the death of his own son, David's father, he has known that the time will come when David must fight for all he holds dear...

Taking direct control means that you, as the player, are responsible for controlling that hero's actions during combat, talking to other characters, opening chests, etc. The directly controlled hero will have a green ring below him. Other characters are known as secondary heroes. Secondary characters will follow the primary hero and attack enemies under AI control (see Combat).

To walk, gently push the analogue thumb pad in the direction you want your hero to move. To run, push the thumb pad fully in the direction you wish your hero to run. To exit a scene, first press the L Trigger to display any exit icons (providing there are no enemies on the screen, see combat), release the L Trigger and use the analogue thumb pad to move your hero through the door. A doorway icon showing a no-entry sign denotes that the exit cannot currently be used. It may become open when enemies are killed or certain events are triggered.

Quick slash/jab: Hold the R Trigger button and press the A button.

Select an enemy you wish to attack by pressing and holding the L Trigger to highlight the enemy currently selected, press the R Trigger to select the next enemy target. Sekune will now fire one shot. She will stop firing when all her allotted shots have been fired, when she's run out of ammunition/magic energy, or when the enemy is dead. Only if the enemy goes out of her line of sight she will stop firing. If and when the enemy comes back into her line of sight will she resume her attack.

Special moves: Specials are powerful attacks used in conjunction with hand weapons. These can be collected, or taught by another character. Special moves charge up with power, like magic items. When they are recharged, the Special icon will appear in the top right hand corner of the screen. To use a Special, equip it and attack an enemy. When in weapon range, press the R Trigger, press and hold the A button. The currently selected hero will perform the Special Move, with devastating results.

The first shows the hero's health points. This bar will change colour as the hero is injured, from green (indicating full health), to red (badly injured). The second energy bar shows the hero's magic points; white (indicating maximum magic points), diminishing to a dark blue as more points are used. The final purple bar indicates the strength of the hero's currently selected shield (if any).

Vibration pack: When inserted into the Expansion socket of a Sega Dreamcast Controller, this accessory provides a vibration effect that enhances the game-play experience.

- The heroes in the group (to scan through the heroes, press the A button without moving the thumb pad).
- The health of the currently selected hero (shown in white numbers).
- The magic energy of the currently selected hero (shown in blue numbers).

Sub- Menus

Food - Each food type collected is shown here. The number at the bottom right of each icon shows the amount you are carrying. After selecting the required type, press the A button and the current hero will eat the food. Each type replenishes a varying amount of health.

Magic Orbs - There are eight magical orbs to collect. Only one hero at a time can use an orb, as there is only one of each. In order to use them they must first be equipped.

Ranged weapons - This shows the different types, ranging from catapult to longbow. The number at the bottom right indicates the amount of weapons collected. The gold / silver ring shows how much ammunition the weapon has. The number at the top left indicates how many shots a secondary hero will use up during automated firing (see above).

Magic Items - These items cast powerful spells from their own self-contained energy supply, which slowly charges up after use. This energy is displayed as a gold / silver ring around the icon. They must be equipped in order to use them. While some act as magical weapons, others are defensive in nature.

Shields - These can be used to block enemy attacks, both physical and magical. Different shields can absorb different amounts of damage before shattering. Every time they absorb an attack, they lose strength points. Shield strength is displayed as a purple energy bar under the portrait of the hero equipped with it. It is also shown in the pie menu as a gold / silver ring around the shield icon. Shields cannot be used in conjunction with ranged weapons or magic orbs, as those require two hands to operate.

Hand Held Weapons - The range of weaponry extends from short swords to war hammers.

Specials - Special moves need to be equipped in order to use them. More than one character can be equipped with the same Special, unlike other equipment. The gold / silver ring around the icon shows the current charge.

Backpack - This is used for carrying several different types of items. These are:

Inventory - This displays all the items that the party is carrying. It also shows the currently selected hero's statistics, total gold collected and arrows found. Further into the game, a map of Jarrah is given to the heroes. This can also be accessed from the Inventory screen. Once found, the map can be used to travel between locations you have already visited. To use it, select the map icon and press A. Select a location using the thumb pad and highlight it, press A to travel there.

Potions - Displays the different types of potions and vials carried.

Keys - Displays all the keys the party is carrying.

The Backpack also has five empty slots. These are used for holding miscellaneous story items.

The 8 Magic Orbs

Each orb contains its own field of magic. They can be used as great weapons or as powerful defenses, depending on the individual orb. The number, bottom right, indicates the current level of the Magic Orb.

Each one has 3 levels of strength. When first collected it is on level one and the more it is used the quicker it becomes more powerful. Once the orb has been upgraded to a higher level you can change to lower levels. By pressing the X button the level will increment by 1 each time. Once it reaches 3 it will rotate back to 1 again.

How to Use Magic

Magic can be used in two ways: as ranged magic, fired from the caster's hand towards a target, or as area magic, cast in the immediate vicinity of the hero.

Ranged magic: Select an enemy you wish to attack by pressing and holding the L Trigger to highlight the enemy. Pressing the R Trigger will select the next enemy target. Press the A button to cast.

Area magic: Press the R Trigger, press and hold the A button. Once a spell has been cast, magic energy slowly recharges. Collecting the blue orbs that are dropped by certain enemies replenishes this energy.

Organizing Your Party

David may travel with up to two other heroes at any one time. When you meet a hero for the first time, they may elect to join your party. If so, a hero selection box will appear. The portraits of those heroes present are displayed. Highlight the portrait you wish to select/deselect using the thumb pad. Press A to select and B to deselect. To confirm your selection, highlight the tick and press A. Once a hero is deselected he will usually return to the Rebel camp.

Speaking With Characters

To communicate with characters, walk up to them and face them. Once the mouth icon appears, press the A button. Pressing the L Trigger, selecting a character with R button and pressing the A button will also instruct your hero to walk over and speak with that character. By talking to characters, different heroes may join your quest. To pass through each section of speech/text, simply press the A button. To skip to the next character's speech, simply press the B button.

Rebel Camp

Whenever you reach an impasse in the game or need information, return to the camp. Talking to the rebels can sometimes reward you with information and a special move or two. It also gives you a chance to swap heroes: Use David to talk to any of the heroes waiting in the camp. Once spoken to, select the hero or heroes you wish to take with you. When you leave the scene they will follow. If you are unhappy with your selection, speak to one of the waiting heroes again.

Buying Items

You will pick up gold during the course of the game. Use it to buy food, information, or helpful items. To buy items, talk to the trader. You will be shown the items the trader wishes to sell. The number above the item is the price. The number at the bottom right of the item displays how much of that item you already have.

To buy, highlight the desired item with the thumb pad and press the A button. The money will be automatically deducted from your gold reserve. To cancel the sale, press the B button (sell back). Highlight the tick when you are happy with the purchase and press the A button. Highlight the cross and press A to leave the trader without buying anything.

Potions and Vials

Potions convey healing or protective magic to the drinker. To use them, simply select the potion in the pie menu and press A. Vials are offensive weapons to be thrown at enemies. To use vials, select using the thumb pad and press A to equip it. Hold down the L Trigger, select your enemy using the R Trigger and press A to fire.

Hints and Tips

- Deep within the forests of Jarrah lies a fairy ring fabled for its healing properties.
- Traders often bring new goods to sell - it is worth checking them frequently.
- All the heroes have different abilities; some excel at magic whilst others favour particular weapons. Experimentation is the key.
- Not all orbs are offensive. Try casting some on your other heroes.
- Grandad is very protective of David. Should you be at death's door, Grandad will intervene and do anything in his power to save you.
- Keep an eye out for little green imps. They're very fond of certain areas!
- When holding down the L Trigger at any time, the analogue or digital directions can be used to scroll the screen in the desired direction.
